Hey, from Tennessee's perspective it could have been worse.

That goes for the crowd, too.

The 15th-ranked Vols let 21-pointunderdog Marshall hang around for three quarters on homecoming Saturday.

Finally, UT discovered the knockout punch that had been missing all season and stormed away to a 33-7 victory.

Speaking of storms ...

The fans hardy enough to visit Neyland Stadium sat through an intermittent rain, but it was a drizzle compared to the daylong monsoon that delayed kickoff for 55 minutes.

By the time a post-game downpour resumed the Vols were safe and dry in the locker room at 3-1, turning their attention to a road trip to MemAudio slideshow of UT-Marshall game.

"Both teams did a great job handling the weather," said UT quarterback Erik Ainge, who passed for 258 yards, including a 47-yard touchdown to Jayson Swain.

"Once we got warmed up, it was just like any other game."

Only it didn't end like any other game. At least not any other game this season.

"During the week." said UT coach Phillip Fulmer, "we talked about and worked on it to be able to play the fourth quarter like we did.

"That was big for us. One of our goals was to really finish well."

Goal accomplished. The Vols outscored Marshall 17-0 in the fourth quarter.

LaMarcus Coker's 89-yard touchdown run was the big blow, padding UT's lead to 23-7 with 12:36 to play.

James Wilhoit added a 49-yard field goal, then David Yancey closed it out with a 5-yard touchdown.

Tennessee's first-half scores came on the pass to Swain that fooled Marshall on third-and-1, and a 20-yard run by Montario Hardesty.

The Vols rolled up 434 yards of offense. All but 36 of their 176 rushing yards came in the fourth quarter.

"We just made more plays than they did," said Ainge, who completed 18 of 27 passes.

That goes for the kicking game, too. Tennessee punter Britton Colquitt had a career night. He averaged 56 yards on three attempts, rolling all three dead inside the Marshall 10.

Marshall's only score came in the second quarter on quarterback Bernard Morris' 1-yard sneak.

"The game was closer than the score indicates," said Marshall coach Mark Snyder.

"It was an exciting ballgame for a while. ... That was a good

The Thundering Herd (1-3) got off to a discouraging start a safety on its third snap — but was hanging tough until the fourth quarter.

Tennessee's 16-7 halftime lead had stagnated. The Herd dominated the third period, holding possession for 12:53 to UT's 2:07. Marshall, however, had nothing to show for it.

One long march ended on a missed 46-yard field-goal try. The next aborted when Demetrice Morley recovered a fumble by Morris.

Still, the Vols couldn't capitalize as the fourth quarter began with an Ainge interception.

At last, however, UT's defense forced a three-and-out Marshall possession.

later, the longest UT touchdown run since 1977 and the third longest ever.

Tennessee led 23-7, and Jonathan Hefney's interception killed Marshall's hopes of an answer.

Wilhoit's field goal made it 26-7 with 5:24 to play.

Jonathan Crompton relieved Ainge at quarterback with 4:08 to play and handed off seven times on a 61-yard scoring drive.

Yancey's 5-yard touchdown run with 23 seconds left was the finale.

"We weren't trying to run up the score," said Fulmer.

"It was important those young guys got to play and play for real. No disrespect to Marshall, but I did that for my team."

Things couldn't have begun much worse for Marshall's offense. The Herd's first four plays from scrimmage lost yardage.

The first snap sailed past Morris in shotgun formation. Morris beat UT's Xavier Mitchell to the ball, recovering at the Marshall 3.

NEWS SENTINEL

After a 1-yard loss on the next snap, Morris was trapped in the end zone on third down by Mitchell and Matt McGlothlin for a safety.

The Ainge-to-Swain connection made it 9-0, still in the first period.

Both teams caught a break on their second-quarter drives.

The Vols helped propel Marshall's 92-yard march with two personal-foul penalties.

The second, roughing the passer by Turk McBride, converted a third down and gave the Herd new life at the UT 11.

Morris scored three plays later on a sneak.

Tennessee's subsequent drive was in jeopardy when Ainge's third-down pass bounced off the hands of Bret Smith.

An alert Swain gathered in the ricochet for a 20-yard gain, good for a first down at the Marshall 20.

Hardesty broke off the touchdown run on the next snap and the 16-7 score stood until the fourth quarter.

Attendance was listed at 104,818, based on tickets sold. Thousands of seats, however, were empty — and soaking wet.

"I want to give a special thank you to the fans who stuck in there through the delay and the rain," said Fulmer.

open a 16-7 game and help the Vols pull away to a 33-7 victory.

Coker's sprint did more than spark UT's 17-0 finish. It also offered hope to fans who sat through the on-and-off rain as well as an uneven performance that highlighted flaws already apparent in this young season.

Golfers could appreciate the uplifting finish. It was akin to a 250yard drive down the middle on the last hole of an otherwise forgettable round.

A UT team that had failed to finish strong in its first three games suddenly had found a finishing kick, thanks to a big-play running back who has struggled for playing time behind Arian Foster and Montario Hardestv.

Until Coker's run and UT's strong second wind that followed, this was a continuation of the loss to Florida, albeit against an inferior opponent that already had lost to West Virginia by 32 points and to Kansas State by 16.

"Offensively, I think we are still a work in progress," UT coach Phillip Fulmer said.

He could have gotten an "amen" from every wet head in Neyland Stadium.

But it wasn't just UT's spotty running game that contributed to the day's prevailing gloom. UT's defense also struggled against Marshall's rushing attack, which made little headway last week against Kansas State.

Although Marshall netted only 126 yards rushing, keep in mind that it had 43 yards in losses, including 22 on an errant snap in the game's opening minutes.

In the second quarter, the Thundering Herd drove 92 yards for a touchdown on 13 plays. Two personal-foul penalties figured prominently in the drive, but so, too, did the consistent play of Marshall's offensive line and running backs. The third quarter brought more of the same. UT had the ball for all of five plays in the quarter, as Marshall dominated the time of possession with 11- and 12-play drives.

One drive ended in a mysterious call by coach Mark Snyder. Another ended with a fumble by quarterback Bernard Morris.

But before those mishaps, UT fans watched Marshall whip their Vols at the line of scrimmage on both sides of the ball. Remember: That's Marshall, not Florida.

Snyder's call was as damaging to Marshall's chances as the fumble. With the Thundering Herd facing a called for a 46-yard field goal that might have cut the lead to six points. Anthony Binswanger missed so badly, you probably wondered what was Snyder thinking, particularly given his team's second- and thirdquarter success.

So UT got help from an opposing coach and an opponent's turnover. Next, it got hope from Coker's 89yard run down the sideline.

By then, it was ready to fastforward to brighter days.

Coker gives rushing game a finishing kick

Running back's 89-yard TD is welcome breakthrough

BY DREW EDWARDS

For LaMarcus Coker, the 55-minute lightning delay before kickoff on Saturday was nothing.

The redshirt freshman tailback's entire season has been a study in patiently waiting his turn.

A week after hauling in a 48-yard touchdown pass against Florida, Coker ripped off an 89-yard touchdown run that simultaneously sent Marshall reeling to a 33-7 loss and sparked a stagnating UT run game.

Playing behind Montario Hardesty and Arian Foster, Coker had just 11 carries entering Saturday.

He hadn't even taken a handoff since the season-opener against Cal.

But the 5-foot-11, 205-pounder from Antioch is quickly making a big-play name for himself.

Waiting? Not a big deal.

After each of UT's last two games, coach Phillip Fulmer said he wanted to get Coker the ball.

Patience paid off, both for Coker and the Vols.

"It's tough because everybody wants to play," said Coker, who rushed eight times for 146 yards. "But at the same time, I know when coach Fulmer says he's going to give it to me, he's going to give it to me.

I just had to be patient and wait for the time to come."

Coker's burst couldn't have come at a better time for the Vols.

UT's lead was just 16-7 when Coker took quarterback Erik Ainge's handoff from the Vols' 11-yard line and cut left.

There, he found a huge hole and did the rest, outrunning Marshall's secondary and eluding at least two players who had perfect angles of pursuit.

"I tried to help block for him, but he's too fast, man," receiver Jayson Swain said. "The line did a good job. The hole was open. I could have danced through there, that's how big the hole was."

Guard David Ligon, who helped spring the play, used the word everyone else does when talking about Coker: Speed.

"It's all speed," Ligon said. "We got a good wash, gave him a little bit of a cutback lane. I was on the ground on top of my guy, and I swear it was 2 or 3 seconds and he was 30, 40 yards downfield. A great job by him.'

Until Coker's run, the Vols had managed just 36 rushing yards on 14 carries.

It wasn't as bad as last week's minus-11 yard performance, but it wasn't exactly what the Vols were looking for from the run game, either.

At least not until Coker blazed down the sideline for the third-longest run in school history and the longest since Kelsey Finch's 99-yarder in 1977.

With Coker's run, the volume got turned down on the questions surrounding UT's offensive line and run game.

"Certainly that was something we were trying to get accomplished," UT offensive line coach Greg Adkins said. "Give Marshall credit, they did a nice job in the first half of bringing some safeties and guys off the edge.

"But we got some things squared away, and LaMarcus made a nice run there. Speed. Speed. He's got some speed, that's for sure."

Even Marshall coach Greg Snyder noticed Coker's presence.

"(No.) 22 is special," he said. "Was that their tailback all day?

"I didn't think so."

Reserve David Yancey finished off Marshall, rushing five straight times for 23 yards, ending with a 5-yard touchdown.

The final rushing numbers for Tennessee turned out to be a very respectable 176 yards on 24 carries, but it still wasn't quite what the Vols had hoped for.

We were shooting for 200, so we didn't reach our goal," center Josh Mc-Neil said. "But I think we did really well. LaMarcus Coker helped us out a lot with that long run."

Despite its struggles with the run – the Vols entered Saturday's game ranked 54 h in the nation in rushing offense – UT did what it wanted to offensively.

"The game plan called for exploiting the receivers, things like that," Ligon said. "If you can throw the ball with quarterbacks and receivers like we can, why not?

When it came down to the wire and we needed to run the ball and we needed to run out the clock and score some points, we did."

And for Coker, the clock isn't ticking quite as loudly anymore.

"I think today was a huge step for our team," he said. "We got the running game going. The offensive line made some great blocks. Not only was it a good step for me, but it was a huge step for our team.

"We just want to build on it."

Bad fourth-quarter habits purged by Vols

BY MARK BURGESS burgess@knews.com

There weren't any fourth-quarter blues this time.

No comebacks. No lost leads or defensive lapses.

The Tennessee football team held up four fingers to start the fourth quarter, and this time, they meant it.

The No. 15 Vols pulled away for a 33-7, rain-delayed victory against Marshall at Neyland Stadium on Saturday.

'Everybody started swarming the ball like bees swarming on honey," sophomore safety Demetrice Morley said. "We were everywhere."

The Vols stung the Thundering Herd by going on a 17-0 outburst in the final 15 minutes.

That came after a week of UT coaches pounding the message of finishing strong into the heads of defensive players.

"Every single day," defensive end Xavier Mitchell said of how many reminders they got this week. "They drilled it into us and we've got to respond, plain and simple.

"When we hold our four fingers to start a fourth quarter, it's really going to mean something. That's going to be in our system the rest of the season."

Coming into the Marshall game, the Vols had been outscored 35-10 in the fourth quarter by Cal, Air Force and Florida.

Marshall had 203 yards offense after three quarters, including two lengthy third-quarter drives that ended in a missed field goal and a fumbled pitch recovered by Morley. The Herd managed only 33 yards in the final quarter.

"The seniors brought all of us together for a meeting and said we've got to step it up in the fourth quarter," Morley said. "We had to put on more steam and not let up." Get off the field was the phrase of emphasis all week.

AMY SMOTHERMAN-BURGESS/NEWS SENTINEL

Marshall quarterback Bernard Morris is dragged down in the end zone for a safety by Tennessee's Antonio Reynolds (89), Matt McGlothlin and Xavier Mitchell (93).

Mayo and Hefney each had a tackle for a loss and Hefney came through with a fourth-quarter interception to set up James Wilhoit's 49-yard field goal.

Morley, who had taken some heat after compiling four tackles in UT's first three games, had nine stops, a tackle for a loss and a fumble recovery.

"I just had to get more focused," Morley said. "Last week was my first week starting in a big game and every game I assume I'm going to get better and better."

Marshall still managed to own the time of possession, holding the ball for 34 minutes, but the Herd finished only one drive (13 plays, 92 yards) for a second-quarter touchdown.

Players admitted Marshall ran more option than they expected, but adjustments were made and Marshall's fourth-quarter possessions ended in two punts and Hefney's interception.

"We got bashed a little bit by the media this week saying we couldn't finish," linebacker Ryan Karl said. "It was deserved. Against Air Force we gave up a big lead and against Florida we gave up a 10-point lead, so this week we had to prove we could last four quarters.

Weather prevents running through 'T'

BY DREW EDWARDS

While severe storms and lightning delayed Tennessee's kickoff against Marshall for 55 minutes Saturday, UT receiver Jayson Swain was kicked back.

"I was just in there watching the game, watching other teams play. I was eating potato chips, stretching, just being bored,' the senior wide receiver said. "Putting on different styles of tape, trying to bide my time."

Those storms cancelled the Vol Walk, shortened UT's pregame warm-up and prevented the Vols from running through the 'T' for the first time since the tradition began against Army in 1965.

UT's crowd of 104,818 was actually much smaller, but the heavy rain didn't dampen its spirits.

Lightning in the area forced fans to find shelter in the concourse area, including UT's marching band, which stayed in the south tunnel until about 17 minutes after kickoff.

Fans greeted each new downpour with cheers, and a full slate of homecoming activities were packed into a 15minute halftime.

But the bad weather didn't seem to affect the Vols' performance in a 33-7 victory on the field.

UT missed a field goal on its opening drive, but stopped Marshall for a safety.

the two in UT's postgame press conference.

It's an understandable slip. Britton averaged 56 yards a punt and pinned the Thundering Herd inside their 10-yard line on each of his three kicks. Twice Marshall started on its 8-yard line and once from its 2.

"Britton had a fantastic day," Fulmer said. "When he's in rhythm, he can kick it with anybody in the country."

Center Shuffle: Redshirt freshman Josh McNeil saw significant action at center after not playing a down last week against Florida.

Former walk-on Michael Frogg started and played the Vols' first two series before giving way to McNeil for the rest of the first half.

"I think I played over half the game," McNeil said. "It felt great. My first series I went out there stiff, but after that I got into the groove of the game and I felt pretty good.'

Frogg returned to start the second half, but the two players - listed as co-starters this week — wound up splitting snaps nearly 50-50.

Jonathan Tebow? The Vols just might have found a new way to use their backup quarterback.

After watching Florida's Tim Tebow run effectively on third-

"We've got to convert on third downs and get off the field," Mitchell said. "We just did our best to suck it up and do what we're taught."

Linebacker Marvin Mitchell, linebacker Jerod Mayo and safety Jonathan Hefnev each had a team-high 12 tackles.

Xavier Mitchell and Matt McGlothlin helped set the tone early with a sack for a safety midway through the first quarter.

"We just ran a twist and it opened up well." Mitchell said. "Turk did a great job picking up the tackle and there he was."

"We got some things fixed at halftime and came out stronger."

Marshall plan: Put pressure on Ainge

BY MIKE GRIFFITH knsgriff@aol.com

Marshall coach Mark Snyder confirmed what many Tennessee fans had suspected: to beat the Vols, you've got to pressure quarterback Erik Ainge.

"It was very key," said Snyder, whose Thundering Herd has lost to West Virginia, Kansas State and now UT. "The times we didn't pressure him, he had a pretty good day. "We felt if we came after Ainge, we had a chance."

Ainge was 18-of-27 passing for 258 yards and a touchdown, but he also had an interception off a deflection and was sacked twice in the Vols' 33-7 victory Saturday night.

Through three quarters, the Vols managed only two touchdowns against three-TD underdog Marshall.

Snyder said beating UT's offensive line to get pressure or stop the run was a result of defensive movement up front.

James Johnson, who plays cornerback, said Ainge was clearly a different player under pressure.

"We blitzed him a lot, and he was rattled," Johnson said. "I think West Virginia is a little better than their offense; they have more weapons.

"I thought Tennessee's receivers would be better than they were. Their speed was all right, but it wasn't what I expected."

Snyder said he didn't plan to Stadium. run the ball 48 times while passing only 14. 'We just ran the basic zone play and our backs made some cuts," said Snyder when asked how Marshall was able to run for 126 yards despite its QB being sacked three times.

Ahmad Bradshaw, who had 72 yards on 24 carries, said he found success running outside.

"I was just taking the soft edge and getting holes," said Bradshaw, who left the stadium with a walking boot after re-aggravating an ankle injury. "They were in front of my face; I just tried to beat them with speed.

"They're a lot faster (than West Virginia), and they fill the holes a lot better."

Morris said he felt West Virginia "was a little tougher," explaining that the Mountaineers' defensive scheme was tougher to play against.

'They run a 3-3-5, which you don't see a lot of," Morris said. "Tennessee was a lot more simple."

Morris said the crowd was a factor.

'The rain didn't keep them away, and they were very hos-tile toward us," Morris said. "Third-down situations, you can't hear anything."

Big John: Former Webb School standout John Inman made the most of his return to Neyland "I'd played here in jamborees, but this was completely different," said Inman, who played at least three series at right tackle, including Marshall's 13-play, 92yard TD drive. "We have a pretty aggressive offensive line."

Inman said he talked to UT during recruiting, but he was unsure how he could fit in with the Vols' vaunted offensive line.

Saturday, Inman got a face full of UT's vaunted D-line.

Inman handled UT end Wes Brown, and he did all right on Xavier Mitchell. Turk McBride was a different story.

"McBride has a great motor and keeps his feet moving," Inman said. "(Mitchell) can punch and get off blocks, but if you keep your hands on his pads and run with him, you're O.K."

Snyder said Inman is a special player.

"That's my guy, he's my emotional leader," Snyder said. "He did good today.

Inman normally plays right guard, but against the Vols he was a tackle.

Work Horse: Snyder said he's been running Marshall's scout team offense to prepare for opponents, and he likes what he sees from former UT signee and Powell standout Lee Smith, who is redshirting.

"I like Lee a lot," Snyder said. "He's been my workhorse."

O'Connor Boots It: Former Halls

standout Ian O'Connor enjoyed a solid day punting for the Herd with four kicks for an average of 39 yards. O'Connor put three of his four punts inside the UT 20.

In the first quarter, UT held the Herd to just one play for positive yardage.

"We may go to a 10-minute warm-up all the time," UT coach Phillip Fulmer said. "I appreciate how everyone handled it, our administration, their officials. Everybody concerned did a real professional job to make sure that the safety of the fans and the safety of the teams was at the forefront."

Coffin Colquitt: Sophomore punter Britton Colquitt did such a good job impersonating his older brother Dustin that one reporter actually confused and-short situations last week. the Vols brought in backup Jonathan Crompton on thirdand-3 midway through the fourth quarter.

Crompton carried the ball for a first down, but the play was negated because of an illegal motion penalty.

Injury Update: Frogg suffered a left shoulder sprain.

Defensive tackle Turk McBride sustained a mild concussion.

Cox rescues Georgia in strong bid for QB job

Associated Press

ATHENS, Ga. — Freshman Joe Cox may have won more than a game with his fourth-quarter performance Saturday for No. 9 Georgia.

Cox rescued Georgia, throwing two touchdown passes in the last 9:11 — the second a 20-yarder with 46 seconds left — and the Bulldogs came back to beat winless Colorado 14-13.

With Georgia heading into its SEC schedule at Mississippi next Saturday, Cox may have earned his first start.

"It's hard to say exactly what to do for sure," said Georgia coach Mark Richt, who already has tried Joe Tereshinski and another freshman, Matthew Stafford, as starting quarterbacks.

Now, the quarterback competition is open again.

'We'll have to step back and look at the big picture again, but Joe Cox threw his hat in there real strong," Richt said.

Cox, who took over late in the third quarter for an ineffective Stafford, threw a 23-yard TD pass to fullback Brannan Southerland for Georgia's first touchdown. Cox capped the comeback with his 20-yarder to tight end Martrez Milner.

"You think about in situations like that you might be nervous, but that was the most comfortable I've been," Cox said. "I was out there laughing and having a good time."

Milner led Georgia with four catches for 64 yards.

"It was a heck of a bullet we dodged," Milner said.

Colorado, 0-4 under first-vear coach Dan Hawkins, built a 13-chance."

0 lead behind quarterback Bernard Jackson, who passed for 140 yards and ran for 85 yards and a touchdown. But Cox brought the Bulldogs (4-0) back from the brink of what would have been a shocking loss.

The loss was the eighth in a row over two seasons for Colorado, its longest losing streak in 42 years.

Cox finished 10-of-13 for 153 yards, including his first two TD passes. Stafford was 8-of-16 for 76 yards and a fumble.

Georgia was in danger of its first shutout loss since 1995 before Cox saved the day.

Georgia completed the comeback even though Colorado made two fourth-down stops in the final quarter.

'We are never down," Hawkins said. "We are fighters and not quitters. We did not knock them out when we had the Added Hawkins: "This loss tears your guts out. We did not come here to show up and play. We came here to win.'

After Georgia's first TD, Bulldogs' cornerback Paul Oliver caused a fumble with a hit on Hugh Charles, and defensive tackle Jeff Owens recovered at the 50 to give Georgia an opportunity. But on fourth-and-3 at the 11, Cox's pass was deflected at the line.

Georgia's defense held, and the Bulldogs took possession for their last drive at the Colorado 43. On the drive, Cox passed to Mohamed Massaquoi for 11 yards to the 25 before finding Milner in the middle of the end zone on a third-and-6.

"He was in man-to-man coverage and I knew if I got it up high enough over his shoulder he would have a chance," Cox

Arkansas kicks Alabama in OT, 24-23

Associated Press

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — Maybe this will help Arkansas shake off the last two frustrating seasons.

Mitch Mustain threw an ll-yard touchdown pass to Ben Cleveland in the second overtime and Jeremy Davis kicked the extra point to give Arkansas a 24-23 victory over Alabama on Saturday.

"We never gave up even when we could have let go of the rope," Razorbacks coach Houston Nutt said. "We had a lot of heroes."

The Crimson Tide took a 23-17 lead on a 1-yard pass from John Parker Wilson to Nick Walker, but Leigh Tiffin missed the extra point.

Tiffin had already missed a 33yard field goal attempt in the first half, a 30-yarder late in the fourth quarter and a 37-yarder that would have won it in the first overtime. Arkansas faced third down at the 11 on its final possession, but Alabama lost track of Cleveland, and he came down with Mustain's pass in the end zone to tie the game. The celebration was a bit subdued at first — Davis had missed an extra point himself in the third quarter. But when his final kick sailed through, the Razorbacks charged onto the field. You can't take an extra point for granted," Nutt said. "Tm proud of him coming back like that." Nutt, under pressure after two straight losing seasons, led the crowd in a loud rendition of the school's fight song. The Razorbacks (3-1) are 2-0 in SEC play for the first time since 1998, his first season as their coach.

Arkansas also added to its legacy of overtime thrillers. The Razorbacks are 6-1 in overtime, although this was their first home game that required an extra session.

Arkansas won the two longest games in NCAA history - in seven overtimes over Mississippi in 2003 and Kentucky in 2001. The Razorbacks also lost a six-overtime game to Tennessee in 2002.

Alabama (3-1, 1-1) has now lost twice to Arkansas in double overtime. The Razorbacks beat the Crimson Tide 34-31 in 2003.

"This is a heartbreaking loss," Alabama coach Mike Shula said. "It's tough to swallow. Things happened every quarter both good and bad." Arkansas appeared doomed on two occasions. Alabama was driving in the fourth quarter, but after reaching the Razorbacks' 9. the Crimson Tide bogged down. Tiffin, who had made a 46-yard field goal at the end of the second quarter, missed with 3:06 remaining in the fourth.

Florida overcomes sloppy start, 26-7

Associated Press

GAINESVILLE, Fla. — Chris Leak got booed one series, then cheered the next.

He may have been a little inconsistent, but he was good enough for Florida to beat Kentucky for the 20th consecutive time.

Leak threw two touchdown passes, DeShawn Wynn had a second consecutive 100-yard game and fifth-ranked Florida defeated the Wildcats 26-7 Saturday night.

The Gators, coming off a big win at Tennessee and getting ready for a brutal, four-game SEC stretch against Alabama, LSU, Auburn and Georgia, seemed Wynn started right, cut back left and ran untouched into the end zone with 22 seconds remain-

"The was key," Florida coach Urban Meyer said. "We were dead in the water. That obviously gave us some momentum. Up until that point, we were completely out of sync."

The touchdown followed three unimpressive drives, complete with penalties, bad throws and sacks — more than enough poor plays to irritate Meyer heading into the locker room.

The Gators responded with a touchdown on their opening possession of the third quarter and played much better defense the rest of the way. Kentucky, (2-2, 1-1) which played without running back/kick returner Rafael Little and center Matt Mc-Cutchan, had 65 yards in the second half after gaining 184 in the first 30 minutes. Leak finished 15-of-26 for 267 vards and broke Shane Matthews' school record for career completions. But he was sacked three times and intercepted near the goal line.

In the first overtime, Mustain's deep pass was intercepted by Lionel Mitchell.

Alabama ran three straight times, again appearing content to play for a winning field goal. But Tiffin missed.

Florida (4-0, 2-0 SEC) trailed 7-6 with less than 2 minutes to play in the first half, but Leak directed a 78-yard drive that put the Gators back in front for good.

Leak hooked up with Dallas Baker on consecutive plays to gain 30 vards. Leak was 5-for-5 for 60 yards on the drive, which Wynn capped with a 13-yard run.

Wake rolls over Ole Miss

NEWS SENTINEI

Associated Press

With De'Angelo Bryant rushing for 105 yards and a touchdown, Wake Forest matched its best start since 1987 at the expense of Ole Miss, winning 27-3 Saturday night in Oxford, Miss.

The Demon Deacons (4-0) didn't seem to miss leading rusher Micah Andrews, out with an injured knee.

Wake Forest ran the ball on 53 of its 58 plays, finishing with 240 yards rushing.

Running back Kevin Harris scored a touchdown on his third carry of the game and had a 5.1 yards per carry average.

The defense was every bit as impressive, holding Ole Miss to 26 yards rushing and 237 total. Starting quarterback Brent Schaeffer, who started his college career at Tennessee, was pulled in the fourth quarter after completing 13 of 28 passes for 127 yards and an interception. And Wake Forest limited BenJarvus Green-Ellis, the SEC's third-leading rusher, to 54 yards on 12 carries.

LSU 49, Tulane 7: Early Doucet caught two touchdown passes and ran for a third score for the No. 10 Tigers (3-1).

The Tigers' ferocious, topranked defense knocked Tulane starting quarterback Lester Ricard out of the game when two tacklers hit him from opposite sides late in the first half.

It was not clear if the injury would force Ricard to miss Tulane's home opener in the Louisiana Superdome next Saturday, the Green Wave's first game in New Orleans since Dec. 4, 2004.

Hurricane Katrina forced Tulane (1-2) out of New Orleans for all 11 games last season as well as its first three this season.

South Carolina 45, Florida Atlantic

6: Sidney Rice caught a schoolrecord-tying five touchdown passes from Syvelle Newton for the Gamecocks against the visiting Owls (0-4).

With No. 2 Auburn coming to town Thursday night, South Carolina coach Steve Spurrier wanted to use this game as a tuneup for his sputtering offense, which started the evening ranked 90th in the country.

The Gamecocks (3-1) rolled up 492 total yards. Rice had nine catches for 161 yards, while Newton was 13-for-20 for 216 yards. Freshman Taylor Rank, playing for the first time, led the rushers with 101 yards on 15 carries.

Defense finishes Irish's improbable rally

Interception return beats Michigan State, 40-37

Associated Press

EAST LANSING, Mich. – Notre Dame looked beaten and Michigan State looked unstoppable.

Then, in a stunning turn of events, cornerback Terrail Lambert capped a furious rally by returning an interception 19 yards for a touchdown with 2:53 remaining to give the 12th-ranked Fighting Irish a 40-37 victory over the Spartans on Saturday night. The loss stunned Michigan State (3-1) and its pumped-up fans, who remained in the stands despite heavy rain in the second half, convinced they were going to see the Spartans beat the Irish (3-1) for the eighth time in 10 games. But it wasn't to be.

Lambert made sure of that, following up his score by ending the Spartans' hopes moments later with a juggling interception of Drew Stanton's pass in the closing seconds of the game.

"Late in the game, I made some stupid mistakes," Stanton said.

That the decisive plays came from the Irish defense, exposed in a blowout loss to Michigan last week and for much of the game Saturday, may have been the most surprising development.

But the Irish offense also clicked late, led by quarterback Brady Quinn.

Quinn started slow, going just 2-of-8 for 6 yards in the first quarter as Michigan State jumped out to a 17-0 lead.

But he finished 20-of-36 for 319 yards with five TDs against one interception.

"Give all the credit to Notre Dame," Michigan State running back Javon Ringer said. "They stepped up when they had to." The Irish trailed 37-21 entering the fourth quarter. But Quinn threw TD passes to Jeff Samardzija (43 yards) and Rhema McKnight (14 yards) to cut the lead to 37-33 with 4:57 remaining.

Michigan State's Jehuu Caulcrick finished with 111 yards and a TD on eight carries.

Stanton ran for 53 yards, and completed 10 of 22 passes for 114 yards. He had two TD passes and the two interceptions.

^{The} Spartans led 31-14 at halftime and looked as if they should be preparing for a postgame celebration.

California's DeSean Jackson, right, makes a 52-yard reception in front of Arizona State's Keno Walter-White. The Bears burned the Sun Devils 49-21 on Saturday for their third consecutive win.

Bears toast Sun Devils 49-21 for third win since UT loss

DeSean Jackson caught one of Nate Longshore's four touchdown passes and returned a punt 80 yards for a score in No. 21 California's 42-point first half, and the Golden Bears rolled to a 49-21 Pac-10 victory over 22nd-ranked Arizona State on Saturday.

Longshore passed for 270 yards and Marshawn Lynch ran for 124 in Cal's third straight impressive victory after a season-opening loss at Tennessee. Daymeion Hughes and Mickey Pimentel returned two of Cal's four interceptions for scores, punctuating a terrible day for Arizona State's Rudy Carpenter. Lynch, Lavelle Hawkins and Justin Forsett also caught TD passes for the Bears (3-1, 1-0 Pac-10), who won easily despite Ryan Torain's career-high 191 yards rushing and two scores for the Sun Devils (3-1, 0-1). Hughes had two interceptions, returning one for a 47-yard TD to cap the Golden Bears' highest-scoring half in their Pac-10 history. Southern Cal 20, Arizona 3: Bolstered by a smothering defense, the third-ranked Trojans defeated the Wildcats to push their Pac-10 record winning streak to 24 games.

The Trojans (3-0, I-0 Pac-10) also set a record with their 12th consecutive conference road win.

USC limited Arizona (2-2, 0-1) to 154 yards, including minus-16 yards on 19 rushes.

North Carolina State 17, Boston College 15:

Daniel Evans connected with John Dunlap for a 34-yard touchdown with 8.5 seconds to play to cap a stunning comeback and lead the Wolfpack at Raleigh, N.C.

Evans — a redshirt sophomore making rived to make the hit.

Clemson 52, North Carolina 7: James Davis had four of Clemson's seven rushing touchdowns in the 19th-ranked Tigers (3-1, 2-1 Atlantic Coast Conference) rolled over the visiting Tar Heels (1-3, 0-1).

Davis, who tops the ACC in rushing, led the way with scoring runs of 1, 1, 10 and 2 yards. He finished with 95 yards on 15 carries.

Florida St. 55, Rice 7: Antone Smith ran for 137 yards and two touchdowns and Lorenzo Booker added 115 yards and a score as the No. 18 Seminoles (3-1) beat the visiting Owls (0-4).

Cantwell directs Louisville

Associated Press

Hunter Cantwell is no Brian Brohm, and No. 8 Louisville's highscoring offense was not exactly its old self, either.

Nevertheless, the Cardinals overcame three turnovers and pulled themselves together behind backup quarterback Cantwell for a ragged 24-6 victory over visiting Kansas State on Saturday.

Starting in place of Heismanhopeful Brian Brohm, who was injured in last week's 31-7 rout of then-No. 17 Miami, Cantwell threw for 173 yards and a touchdown.

But like the entire Louisville attack, he was inconsistent. In one careless stretch in the second half, the Cardinals turned the ball over on three consecutive possessions in defense of their highest ranking ever.

"I feel good about getting the win in a tough stadium like this against a pretty good defense," Cantwell said, "but I made some mistakes and I've got to get some things adjusted this week and get better,"

Expected to start two or three games while Brohm recovers from a thumb injury, Cantwell was 18-for-26 for 173 yards.

"He was hot and cold and what happened was it took us out of our tempo," Louisville coach Bobby Petrino said. "Sometimes he sat at the line of scrimmage a little bit long and allowed them to talk him into some checks."

Virginia Tech 29, Cincinnati 13:

Branden Ore ran for 170 yards and a touchdown and the 11th-ranked Hokies (4-0) overcame a sluggish first half to beat the visiting Bearcats (1-3).

Ore had 152 yards in the second half, and his 1-yard TD run

Commodores forced three turnovers and turned them into touchdowns in a span of 2:15 in the second half against the Tigers (2-2) of Division I-AA.

The Commodores (1-3) led 10-3 late in the third quarter, but downed Brett Upson's 32-yard punt at the Tennessee State 1.

Two plays later, Vanderbilt's Jonathan Goff applied pressure to quarterback Antonio Hefner, who threw the ball into the back of one of his linemen. Vandy's Marcus Buggs picked off the deflection just before stepping out of the back of the end zone for a touchdown.

On the following kickoff, Funtaine Hunter forced a fumble that Vandy's Jared Hawkins recovered at the TSU 7. Two plays later, Commodore quarterback Chris Nickson scored on a 5-yard run for a 24-3.

On the Tigers' next play from scrimmage, Vanderbilt safety Reshard Langford picked off a pass from Hefner and returned it 21 yards to the Tennessee State 33. Nickson hit Earl Bennett with a 33-yard TD pass on the next play.

Mississippi St. 16, UAB 10: Omarr Conner jumped across the goal line for a touchdown in overtime and the Bulldogs got their first victory.

Conner — State's third starting quarterback this season after Michael Henig was hurt in the opener — was swarmed by teammates after the 21-yard run. UAB challenged the TD call, but it stood after a video review.

UAB had gotten the ball first in overtime, but Adron Chambers picked off Chris Williams' pass in the end zone on the second play to hold the Blazers.

Mississippi State (1-3) rallied on offense after a night of mistakes and then kept UAB (1-3) out of the end zone just to get to overtime. his first career start — threw for 179 yards for the Wolfpack (2-2, 1-0 Atlantic Coast Conference), which trailed 15-10 in the final minute before Evans directed a 72-yard TD drive with no timeouts to stun the Eagles (3-1, 1-1).

After driving his team to the 34-yard line with 16.8 seconds left, Evans lofted a pass to the back right corner of the end zone for Dunlap. The receiver jumped to beat DeJuan Tribble to the ball, bobbled it, then pulled it in just before Paul Anderson ar0 , , Nebraska 56, Troy 0: Marlon Lucky ran for 156 yards and three long touchdowns and Kenny Wilson ran for 106 yards and two scores in the No. 23 Cornhuskers (3-1) crushed Troy (1-3) in Lincoln, Neb.

Boise St. 41, Hawaii 34: Jared Zabransky threw for 273 yards and three touchdowns and Ian Johnson ran for 178 yards and two scores to help the No. 25 Broncos (4-0) hold off the visiting Warriors (1-2). with 8:30 left put Virginia Tech ahead 21-13.

Victor "Macho" Harris had two interceptions, and his 72-yard touchdown was the 67th scored by a defensive player under coach Frank Beamer, who is in his 20th season Virginia Tech. Josh Morgan's punt block in the end zone for a safety was the 112th by the Hokies under Beamer, and the fourth kick blocked this season.

Ohio State makes Paterno ill

Associated Press

In about the time it took 79year-old Joe Paterno to jog to the locker room, Troy Smith and No. 1 Ohio State's defense turned a close game into a rout.

Smith threw an acrobatic 37yard TD pass in the fourth quarter, then Malcolm Jenkins and Antonio Smith returned interceptions for touchdowns as the Buckeyes beat No. 24 Penn State 28-6 on Saturday in Columbus, Ohio.

"In the Big Ten, it's always a four-quarter game," Ohio State coach Jim Tressel said. "We won a four-quarter game."

Paterno, the Nittany Lions' coach for the last 41 years, ambled to the locker room midway through the second quarter and didn't return until the start of the fourth because he was suffering from the flu.

He got back just in time to see Smith turn a possible sack into a critical score as the Buckeyes (4-0, 1-0 Big Ten) expanded a 7-3 lead on Brian Robiskie's 37-yard touchdown catch.

On a day when Penn State's defense put the clamps on Smith and his favorite target, Ted Ginn Jr., the Buckeyes persevered.

"The mark of a championshipcaliber team is to keep plugging along — to keep going, keep go-ing, keep going," said Smith, who said he went against a Tressel rule by reversing field on the pass to Robiskie. "I tried to improvise and keep things going.'

With the Nittany Lions (2-2, 0-1) seeking a touchdown and 2point conversion that would tie it, Jenkins picked off an Anthony Morelli pass and raced down the left sideline 61 yards for a score to make it 21-6 with 2:31 left.

The play was reviewed by officials to check if Jenkins had stepped out at the Penn State 35. But several replay angles appeared to show Jenkins spiking the ball to the ground before he got into the end zone.

lowa 24, Illinois 7: Drew Tate passed for 190 yards and the No. 14 Hawkeyes scored three touchdowns in the second quarter and blew away the Illini at Champaign, Ill.

Tate completed 17-of-27 passes to lead an offense that piled up 344 yards.

Damian Sims scored on a 1yard run with just under six minutes left in the half after a short punt gave Iowa (4-0, 1-0 Big Ten) possession at the Illinois 31. Albert Young added a 6-yard run three minutes later.

Tate then connected with Tony

Air Force gets support from offense, defense

Associated Press

Air Force controlled the ball on the way to winning at Wyoming.

Quarterback Shaun Carney ran for 131 yards and two touchdowns Saturday and Air Force beat Wyoming 31-24 in the Mountain West Conference opener for both teams.

Chad Hall added 122 yards rushing and a touchdown as the Falcons (1-1, 1-0) took control in the second quarter.

"Whenever plays needed to be made, the defense rose up and made plays," Falcons coach Fisher DeBerry said. "But also the offense, I thought, did a masterful job of controlling the clock today, keeping the ball out of their hands."

Air Force had more than double Wyoming's time of possession.

The Falcons totaled 367 yards on offense — nearly double what Wyoming (1-3, 0-1) had been allowing heading into the game.

"We kept coming back and we kept fighting back and I think that's the sign of a team that has the potential to grow and develop into a very competitive football team," De-Berry said.

Oklahoma crushes Middle Tennessee, 59-0

Staff and wire reports

Oklahoma left nothing to the replay officials this time.

Adrian Peterson scored three touchdowns, Malcolm Kelly set a school record for receiving in a brilliant first quarter and the 17th-ranked Sooners scored 45 points in the first half on their way to a 59-0 win against Middle Tennessee on Saturday night.

Paul Thompson threw for 257 yards and three touchdowns for the Sooners (3-1), who left nothing to chance after a 34-33 loss last week to Oregon that the Pac-10 Conference later said was affected by an incorrect call.

The Blue Raiders (2-2) turned the ball over four times in the first half, leading to three of Oklahoma's six first-half touchdowns.

The margin of defeat was Middle Tennessee's largest since moving to Division I-A in 1999. Only a 69-0 loss to Vanderbilt in 1926 and a 70-7 loss at Murray State in 1933 were more lopsided.

"We killed ourselves in the first half," Middle Tennessee coach Rick Stockstill said. "We dropped the ball on the opening kickoff. We put the ball on the ground, and you just can't do that against a team like Oklahoma."

Tusculum 33, Brevard 0: Jerlmichael Sykes rushed for two touchdowns and returned a blocked punt for another to lead the Pioneers (3-1) against the Tornados (0-5) at Brevard Memorial Stadium in Brevard, N.C.

Sykes rushed for 113 yards on 18 carries, while Tusculum posted its second straight shutout, the first time since 1933.

The Pioneers entered the game as the No. 5 rushing defense in the country. Brevard finished with 37 yards rushing and 97 total yards.

Tusculum receiver Jamichael Caldwell had eight receptions for 96 yards and two touchdowns.

Tusculum got on the scoreboard first in the opening quarter when Corey Russell found Caldwell on a 12-yard pass up the middle at the 2:42 mark.

The Pioneers scored on their opening possession of the third quarter utilizing an eight-play, 63yard drive capped off by Sykes' first collegiate touchdown on a four-yard run.

Sykes added a pair of scores in the fourth quarter. The first coming on a six-yard run with 12:17 left in the game. He added another when he blocked a punt and returned it for a 40-yard touchdown at the 8:53 mark.

Carson-Newman struggles against Virginia State, 27-21

News Sentinel staff

Virginia State gave Carson-Newman College a scare, but the Trojans' offense struggled through the second and third quarters and the Eagles won 27-21 on Saturday at Rogers Stadium in Ettrick, Va.

The Trojans' defense forced five turnovers, but the offense committed five of its own.

On their first series of the game, Trojans quarterback Michael Terry completed all four passes for 89 yards, including a 21-yard touchdown to Jerome Choice.

Trailing for the first time all season, the No. 6 Eagles (4-0) responded later in the first quarter. Running the ball with their trademark split-back veer, Carson-Newman's running backs were able to get to the outside for big gains. Matt Ward capped a 68yard drive with a 10-yard TD to tie the score.

The Trojans (0-4) received excellent field position early in the second quarter when defensive end Aaron Knight scooped up a fumble and returned it to the Carson-Newman 3-yard line. Three plays later, Terry threw a shovel pass to running back Ricky Brown for a touchdown.

Virginia State failed to get another first down until midway through the fourth quarter. During that time, the Eagles put up 20 unanswered points, including another touchdown run by Ward, who finished with 132 yards on 17 carries. "I was pretty surprised because Virginia State came down and scored on us really quick," Ward said. "It was very important for team morale that we come right back and keep the defense off the field by putting points on the board.'

Virginia State scored another touchdown on a Lamar Blizzard pass to Davian Richards with less than a minute remaining in the game, but the Trojans' inability to establish a running game — 20 carries for 21 yards - proved to be their downfall.

C-N coach Ken Sparks was impressed with Virginia State's effort, claiming the Trojans were the toughest opponent his Eagles have faced this season.

"I was a bit concerned that our first few ballgames were too easy," Sparks said. "It certainly wasn't easy today. If you have to come from behind two different times, you're clearly not doing what you want to do.'

Sewanee 16, Maryville 8: Sewanee's defense was too strong, limiting the Scots (1-3) to nine yards rushing and intercepting four passes. Sewanee (2-2) set the pace with its first drive, going 52 yards in six plays. Blake Mears ran 9 yards for a touchdown.

Sewanee pinned Later, Maryville back at its 2-yard line. Tigers freshman Hunter Hobson blocked Andy Ottolini's punt for a safety and a 9-0 lead.

At halftime, Maryville hadn't crossed midfield and had minus-4 yards of offense.

Sewanee quarterback Wesley Satterfield, who rushed for 123 yards, engineered a 55-yard drive in the third quarter that culminated with his 1-yard touchdown run with 5:25 left in the quarter.

Maryville finally scored with 4:15 left on a 5-yard touchdown pass from Justin Price to Mike Gilbert. Price ran for a 2-point conversion.

On the ensuing kickoff, the Scots attempted an on-side kick, but the Tigers recovered and ran out the clock.

Price was 12 of 24 passing for 152 yards.
